Over 2 million adults in Ohio have a disability. They are more likely than other groups to experience:

- Depression, obesity, diabetes, and heart disease
- Unmet health care needs
- Unemployment and underemployment
- Inadequate transportation

Hear from national experts and local leaders. Deepen your understanding of people with disabilities and population health. The one-hour roundtables include lived experience, didactic presentation and opportunity for interaction. Each session is designed to challenge your thinking, change your practice, and provide you with resources. Special attention will be paid to topics such as intersectionality and equity.
